Torrance Beach

If you're looking for some big screen excitement, a trip to Torrance makes for a picture-perfect getaway. This flick-friendly city has been the scenic backdrop for more than 200 films and television episodes for decades. From the scene of the crime in Scarface to CIA Headquarters for Cassie in The Flight Attendant, Torrance is the perfect setting to plan an award-winning getaway.

1 Torrance High School

The unique architecture makes this functioning high school an ideal location for TV series and films including Beverly Hills, 90210, Buffy the Vampire Slayer, Bruce Almighty and She's All That.

2 Del Amo Fashion Center

With 2.5 million square feet of space at Del Amo Fashion Center, the shopping options, as they might say in 1983's Valley Girl, are "totally awesome." Numerous movies, TV shows and commercials have been filmed here including Bad Santa, Jackie Brown, Reno 911! and most recently, a Butterfinger commercial.

3 The DoubleTree by Hilton Torrance/South Bay

This iconic hotel has been a backdrop in many shows and films including the Emmy award-winning series The People v. O.J. Simpson: American Crime Story.

4 Residential Neighborhoods

A driving tour through Torrance's neighborhoods will reveal many familiar homes. Say hello to the Scarface scene where Tony meets Gina at his mother's home or drive by the home of Buffy the Vampire Slayer. Plus, Horrible Bosses featured a key scene in East Torrance. Dirk Diggler's house in Boogie Nights can be spotted and the HBO series Barry filmed in Torrance neighborhoods too. We recommend keeping in the car versus trespassing for selfies, as do the current residents.

5 Murdock Stadium

Score a peek at this stadium at nearby El Camino College, which was the featured stadium in the 2005 version of The Longest Yard.

6 Old Torrance

Populated with historic buildings, Old Torrance is home to multiple period films including the 1974 classic Gone in 60 Seconds and its 2000 remake. And don't be too surprised if you spot a Geico character in town. Many commercials are shot here including AT&T, Sketchers and Bowflex. Most recently Rob Lowe was spotted filming an episode of 9-1-1: Lone Star.

7 Torrance Beach

Torrance Beach has been the setting for many popular TV series. It's where Kyra Sedgwick's character from The Closer closed a case. HBO's hit series Insecure may be a real depiction of life in Los Angeles proper but some scenes were shot right here. And while Grey's Anatomy is famously set in Seattle, some scenes by the water were shot at none other than yours truly.

8 Torrance Airport

Picturesque Zamperini Field has served as the set of many first-class airport commercials including AT&T, Hewlett Packard, Honda, Lincoln, Microsoft, Midas, Timberland, Toyota, Verizon and more. It's also been featured in Flirty Dancing, Snowfall, Champs vs. Stars on TV and the Miss Arizona movie

9 Wilson Park

Wilson Park, among the many parks popular for filming, is a sports and recreation area that is perfect for spying the set on recent commercials, films and documentaries. Documentaries on culinary expert Ted Montoya and comedian Jesus Trejo have been shot here as well as commercials for Aetna, Herbalife and Chick-fil-A, which may mark the first official appearance of a cow in Wilson Park. If you have a few short minutes, check out the short film Tone & Jasmine, also shot at Wilson Park.
